Companion® Biological Fungicide is redefining expectations, too.

Welcome to the evolution of fungicides. It used to be that chemical fungicides were the only option for preventing and controlling disease outbreaks. With such products, there were always ever-present fears about things like the potential for plant burn, root pruning, phytotoxicity, and long REIs.

All that has changed with Companion® Biological Fungicide.

Start using all-natural Companion, and your expectations of fungicides will undergo a dramatic metamorphosis. The first thing you'll notice is its efficacy against root-borne fungal diseases like Fusarium, Phytophthora, Pythium, and Rhizoctonia. But Liquid Companion also offers a myriad of unique benefits that aren't available with chemicals. Benefits like high compatibility, superior rooting, improved nutrient uptake, and better plant health from plug to pot to field. Companion will never burn your plants when used at the recommended rates. It has zero phytotoxicity, and can actually repair existing plant damage.
